

The king was very impressed with the Jewish peoples' way of life, especially in the Holy Temple and he allowed them to practice their laws and customs as always.